On the ball

Welcome to today's visitors Wolverhampton Wanderers as we play our last First Division game.

Hopefully it won't be long before Bolton Wanderers are back in the premier grade and everyone at the club will be working all out to achieve that aim.

Two years back in the First Division wasn't a long period when you consider that the club is over a hundred years old and was a founder member of the Football League.

But during these last two years a lot of lessons have been learned. One of them is that the gulf between the Second and First Divisions is more considerable than people realise.

Last season was one of consolidation after promotion from the Second Division had been won following a couple of very near misses.

And now, with hindsight, the message was clear. A side's problems are only just beginning when they have reached Division One status.

The battle was an uphill one from the word "go" and there have been a number of difficulties along the way. Money was spent on buying players but it didn't manage to keep the club free from worry.

And as the weeks went by, it became more and more obvious that with results not going the Wanderers' way, it would take a miracle to keep the side free from relegation worries.

In the end, the inevitable happened and the season which became very traumatic with a change of manager in midstream, ends today.

But while in one way it is an end, it could be a beginning. For everyone realises that the fight is just about to begin.

From manager Stan Anderson and first team coach Tony Dunne down, the whole staff are dedicated in the fight to make a rapid return.

As the boss said: "We will return". He has said that he will not be afraid of venturing into the transfer market and the club's promising youngsters will be given their chance.

Some players will be leaving the club and we wish them well. It is now a matter of seeing Bolton Wanderers, with the support of their faithful fans rising once again.

To those who have given their support during a difficult season, the directors, staff and players offer their thanks. See you next season!

Welcome to WOLVERHAMPTON

Wolves' wonderful League Cup victory over Nottingham Forest is just the first of what manager John Barnwell believes can be many new glories. "What we just aim for now", he said after their Wembley win, "is to achieve the sort of consistency that Liverpool have done".

When John Barnwell took up his job with Wolves last season, his first task was to instill the club with new thinking. "Everyone was talking about the great old days", he recalls. "It's no good living in the past. I reckoned that we were creating a great new stadium. I wanted a good team to go with it. And I knew that the only way I could stop people thinking about the past was to create new successes."

The League Cup was a wonderful start and capped a wonderful first full season in charge at Molineux. It also gave Mr. Barnwell a new zest for life, something that had deserted him following the car crash that almost cost him his life just over a year ago. During his absence, assistant-manager Richie Barker took charge of the team and Mr. Barnwell always insists that Richie should receive full credit for the job he did in his own absence.

Another man revitalised by the club's League Cup success was Scottish international striker Andy Gray. He scored their winning goal and, even though it was one of the simplest he has ever scored, it did a lot to change the course of his career. Before Wembley he had suffered a goal drought. He was still suffering from his differences at Aston Villa and worrying about his £1½-million price tag. Andy was also upset at being left out of the Scotland team.

But his goal at Wembley changed all that. A week later he scored against Stoke and made two others. Then he was restored to the Scottish team and scored against Portugal. Now it's all going for him again.

Andy Gray normally partners John Richards as the spearhead of Wolves' attack with Mel Eves making up the attack. But Richards has been forced out again through injury and Wayne Clarke has taken his place.

Winger Dave Thomas was signed from Everton for £400,000 at the beginning of the season but things have not gone well for him and he has been placed on the transfer list.

Peter Daniel, Ken Hibbitt and Willie Carr are the usual midfield players but, when Hibbitt was injured, Colin Brazier was recalled to the side.

The back four normally lines up with Geoff Palmer, Emlyn Hughes, George Berry and Derek Parkin on parade.

John Barnwell pulled off a fine deal when he signed Emlyn Hughes from Liverpool for £90,000 last summer. "I didn't really buy him for his playing ability because he is now past his best," said the Wolves' boss. "But his experience is invaluable to us. This showed in the League Cup final and I'm sure he will be a tremendous asset to us in Europe next season."

Goalkeeper Paul Bradshaw was one of Wolves' greatest heroes in their League Cup victory, denying Forest many times with a series of daring saves.

When John Barnwell accepted the post as Wolves' manager, he found himself facing one of the greatest giant-killing posers of all time — how to kill off the memory of Stan Cullis's memorable triumphs and create even better ones himself?

With Cullis's drive off the field, and Wright's perceptibility as captain on it, Wolves won the League Championship in 1954, 1958 and 1959. They were cruelly robbed of a memorable hat-trick of titles when pipped by Burnley on the final day of 1959/60.

Cullis's team won the F.A. Cup in 1949 and 1960.

So John Barnwell must have pondered — how can I cap that?

Several of football's top names have tried, and failed. Andy Beattie, Ron Allen, Bill McGarry and Sammy Chung met with varying degrees of success. But none could match Cullis.

By winning the League Cup this season, the new Wolves are already well on their way towards emulating the feats of the Stan Cullis era.

Bumper Reunion!

Wanderers' stars past and present teamed up for a bumper reunion here at Burnden Park on April 21st.

And back together again were members of Bolton's two post-war Wembley teams — Tommy Banks, Ralph Banks, Ray Parry, Willie Moir, Malcolm Barrass, Stan Hanson, Harold Hassall and of course Nat Lofthouse.

It was Harold and Nat who helped bring the 50 or so players back together again and it is now hoped that future gatherings will be held and a Wanderers' Old Boys Association set up.

Every era from the twenties to the present day was represented.

From the oldest ex-Wanderers including George Taylor and Willie Anderson to more recent old boys like Roger Fletcher, Paul Hallows and PFA Chariman Gordon Taylor were there.

Those who couldn't attend sent messages of good will among them Dougie Holden, now living in London, Ray Westwood who lives in Birmingham and Warwick Rimmer who now coaches the Sierra Leone national team.

There was a special message too from Dick Pym the man believed to be the oldest surviving former Wanderers player.

Dick, who is 86, kept goal in the 1923 Wembley Cup Final and now lives in Exeter. He sent this message to his former colleagues:

"I would like to express my feelings of pride at being connected with the old team. It was ten years of much happiness and I have every respect for the followers and players of my old club.

"It was sad to see the position of the team at the moment, but I feel sure the old fighting spirit will return and they will soon be back in Division One.

"I trust you will have a wonderful evening with many old yarns of days gone by, some true, some a little off the mark.

"Most of the players of my day have passed on but if any of them are at the meeting will you kindly give them my very best wishes and also wish the members of the present side my best wishes for future success."

* * * *

From the oldest Wanderers to the newest — and again it is congratulations to Mike Bennett who has been named in the England Youth Squad for the Little World Cups Finals in East Berlin next month.

At 17 Mike is one of the youngest players in Division One at the moment and already has an England Youth cap to his credit, having featured in the convincing defeat of Denmark which put us through to the final stages of the competition.

Our best wishes go with Mike who clearly has a tremendous future ahead of him.

Here at Burnden Park in the Executive Club we again play host to the recently formed Football Association North West Medical Society of which our 'physio' Jim Headrige is both secretary and treasurer.

The second meeting of the society will be held on Thursday next at 8 p.m. when the North West's League clubs will be represented.

Guest speaker will be Mr Barry Case, orthopaedic surgeon at Preston Royal Infirmary and consultant to Preston North End. He will speak on "recognition of injuries".

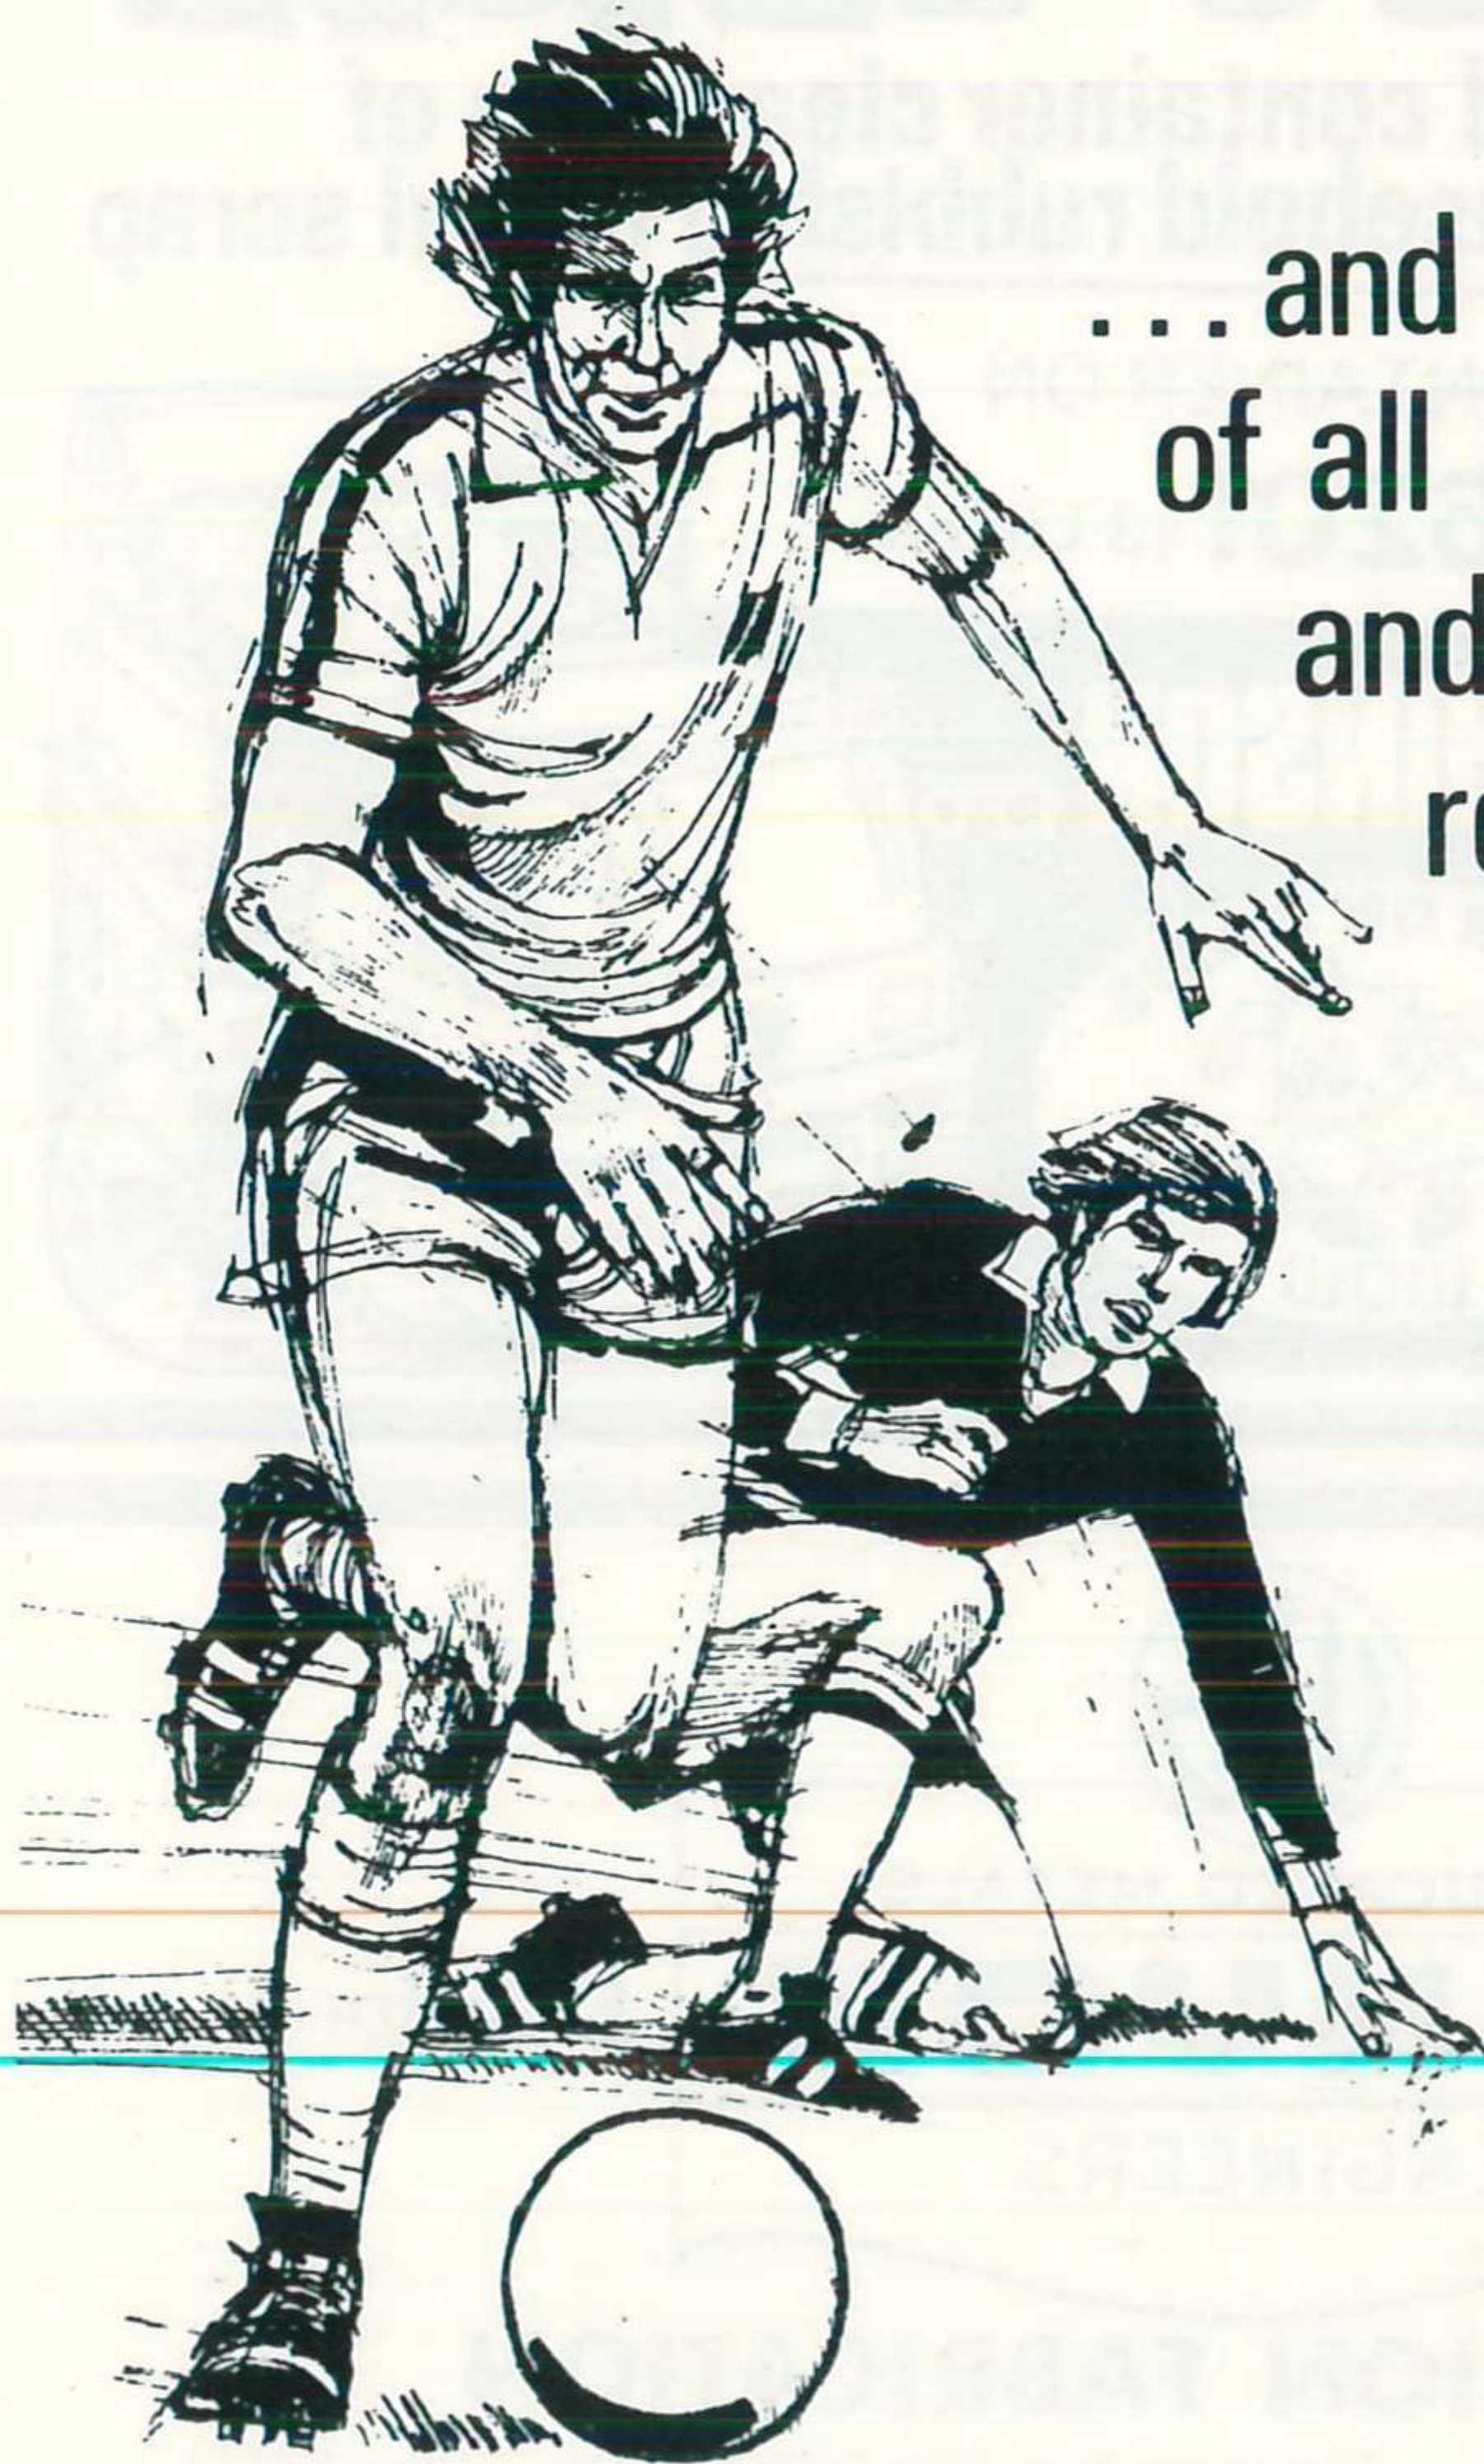

Jim Headrige who was instrumental in forming the North West Society will welcome anyone interested in the treatment of soccer injuries and has invited anyone who took part in the courses on injury treatment he has organised in Bolton and Wigan in recent months.

Anyone wanting further details should contact Jim here at Burnden Park.

PAUL BRADSHAW (Goalkeeper) Paul first played League soccer for Blackburn in 1973/74 and he commanded a £150,000 fee when Wolves signed him two years ago. Now he is an England under-21 international.

GEOFF PALMER (Defender) Geoff, a former England under-23 international, came through the junior sides to make his League debut in 1973. He played in the League Cup winning teams of 1974 and 1980.

EMLYN HUGHES (Defender) Emlyn began his career with Blackpool and joined Liverpool for £60,000 in 1967. After gaining under-23 caps, he went on to win 59 full England caps in his Liverpool days and he is still very much part of the England set-up as he showed against Spain last month when he came on as substitute.

PAUL BERRY (Defender) Paul forms an all-international central defence for Wolves, winning his fourth Welsh cap this season. He didn't make the first-team at Ipswich but he made his League bow for Wolves in 1976/77 and last season he earned himself a regular place in the Wolves' defence.

DEREK PARKIN (Defender) Derek is a former England under-23 cap who opened his career with Huddersfield Town. Wolves paid £80,000 for him in 1968 and he has since made more than 450 first-team appearances for the club.

PETER DANIEL (Midfield) Peter developed as a right-back with Hull City and Wolves paid £150,000 for him in 1978. But, after playing in defence for a few games he was switched to midfield and he has proved a huge success in his new position.

KEN HIBBITT (Midfield) Ken began his career with the now defunct Bradford P.A. but was transferred to Wolves in 1969 for £5,000 and was later capped by the England under-23s. He has on two occasions been Wolves' top scorer and he has won two League Cup winners' medals with the club.

WILLIE CARR (Midfield) Willie began his career with Coventry, making his League debut in 1967. His creative ability in midfield won him six Scottish caps, then in 1975 he was transferred to Wolves for £100,000.

ANDY GRAY (Forward) Andy was twice top scorer for Dundee United before joining Aston Villa for £110,000 in 1975. He was regular goalscorer for Villa and that's what prompted Wolves to pay £1,469,500 for him earlier this season. Andy won his seventh Scottish cap against Portugal this season.

JOHN RICHARDS (Forward) John has spent his entire career with Wolves and has recovered from a long series of injuries to enjoy his football once again. In 1972/73 he was the country's top scorer with 33 goals and that achievement earned him his solitary England cap. Last season he topped the club's scoring list for the third time.

MEL EVES (Forward) Mel has been in the side for almost three years now and has been capped by the England "B" team.

WAYNE CLARKE (Forward) Wayne has been back in the side since John Richards' injury. He developed in the junior sides at Molineux and made his League bow, as a substitute, two seasons ago.

NORMAN BELL (Forward) Norman served his apprenticeship at Molineux, made his League debut in 1975/76 and completed 50 League appearances last season.

Neil Whatmore heads for the Stoke goal.

The Programme Game

by ROY CAVANAGH

Today's visitors to Burnden Park, Wolverhampton Wanderers, also provided the opposition on the only occasion when Bolton Wanderers have appeared in the Charity Shield.

That was on Monday, 6th October, 1958, when cup winners Bolton defeated champions Wolves 4-1, under the Burnden floodlights.

The programme for that game was a special edition of 12 pages, featuring on the front cover a photograph of the Charity Shield, and an aerial view of Burnden Park.

It contained team photographs and pen pictures of both sets of players, along with the history of this competition which nowadays, is staged pre-season at Wembley Stadium.

The Charity Shield dates back to 1908 when incidentally for the first and only time in the history of the competition, a replay was instituted, with Football League champions Manchester United defeating Southern League champions Queens Park Rangers 4-0 after a 1-1 draw.

It is now shared for 6 months by each side if a draw results. At around the time Bolton were making the F.A. Cup their own property during the 1920's, the Charity Shield was competed for by sides selected by the F.A., usually it was "amateurs" v "professionals".

The previous season to the 1958 charity shield game, had seen Bolton and Wolverhampton meet in a classic 6 round F.A. Cup tie at Burnden, the programme for this game is a very collectable item also, and, as the gate was over 59,000 there should be one or two copies about!

Bolton won this tie 2-1 in one of the most famous games ever staged between the only two "Wanderers" in the Football League, games in fact which have been played between the two clubs since 1888, when these two famous clubs were original members of the Football League.

From the past to the present, and, next Saturday see's this season's F.A. Cup final, and any armchair viewers among you will be able to purchase the final programme priced 80 pence, from Geoff Street in the "Happy Shop", from today, and during next week whilst stocks last.

First Division Focus

Everton have come through a nerve-racking season in which relegation has never been far from their minds. But, when it's all over, the Goodison men will probably reflect that it was the vivid memory of goalkeeper George Wood ultimately saved their First Division place.

Last Saturday Everton desperately needed both points from their home clash with Southampton but heads sank when they conceded a penalty in the 38th minute with the score still 0-0. Mick Channon, usually so deadly from the spot, ran up for the kick and was quite astonished when George Wood saved his shot.

Later Wood revealed his secret. "Mick took a penalty against me four years ago and put it in exactly the same spot. I reasoned that he would do the same and was prepared for the save."

Scottish international Wood lost his place to Martin Hodge earlier this season and has only recently been restored to the side. Had Southampton taken the lead at that stage they might well have held on for a win. But Gary Stanley and John Gidman, from a penalty, scored second-half goals to give Everton a 2-0 victory.

That left them a target of two points from three games to be certain of escaping the drop. The only team that could overtake them was Bristol City who, after losing at home to Norwich last Saturday, were three points behind with two games to play.

Few of us could ever have imagined that the League Championship would still be in contention at this late stage. But, thanks to a marvellous run of six successive victories by Manchester United, the race has remained wide open.

The turning point came on April 5th when United defeated Liverpool 2-1 at Old Trafford for the first of their six wins on the trot. With Liverpool subsequently dropping two points in drawn games, the title remained in doubt until today. Indeed, in the unlikely event of Liverpool dropping a home point to Aston Villa and Manchester United winning at Leeds, doubts would remain until Liverpool complete their League fixture.

One club kicking itself for making a disastrous start to the season is Ipswich Town whose victory over Bolton at Portman Road last Saturday extended their unbeaten run to 23 League games --- easily a club record.

Before embarking upon that fine sequence, Ipswich were third from the bottom of the table. Now they look likely to take third place and qualify for the UEFA Cup next season.

Now that the season approaches its close, we can expect a flush of transfer deals. Players whose contracts expire in the summer will either be persuaded to stay with their clubs or seek their fame and fortune elsewhere.

One of the first deals poised to go through could already have been concluded this week. Newcastle striker Peter Withe has been considering a move to Aston Villa for £500,000. It was an approach he may well have rejected had Newcastle maintained their Second Division promotion push. But they have fallen away badly in recent weeks and now Withe, the former Nottingham Forest forward, will probably see a transfer to Villa as his quickest means of returning to the First Division.

We may already know if Chelsea's promotion dream has been shattered. If so then it's certain that England under-21 striker Tommy Langley, who feels he needs top class football to keep alive hopes of winning full England honours, will be off quite soon, possibly to a continental club.

One of the most publicised possible deals could yet fall through if Arsenal win one of the trophies still open to them. Liam Brady is not quite so sure if he wants to sign for a continental club now that so many of his former League stars have returned to this country.

It seems possible that the chance to earn a lot of money might persuade him to leave England for a couple of years. On the other hand, with Arsenal now looking a better side than they have in years, Brady might feel his long-term interests would be better served by staying at Highbury.
